THE THEATERS

Today's program at the Bijou includes a two part Vitagraph drama, "The Crucible of Fate," a Biograph drama, "The Restless Woman," and an extra fine Selig drama, "The Wolf of Wall Street." The bill today is unusual, a five cent bargain day and there is no cut in the program, but something extra.

Wednesday is Famous Film Company's day. Miss Rita Sacchetto, the great Italian artist, will appear in a four-part military drama, "In the Line of Duty." Miss Sacchetto scores a distinct triumph in this production and demonstrates her versatility as an emotional actress, classical dancer and pantomimist. It is a tense overpowering drama that just escapes tragedy by a happy twist.

One of the most attractive novelties in musical comedy will be seen in LeCompte and Fleisher's spectacular musical fantasy, "The Prince of Tonight," in which Tom Arnold will be seen at the Robinson Grand Saturday afternoon and night, April 25. In the first act one of the real features which as an oddity has seldom been equalled is the college song, "Her Eyes are Blue for Yale," sung by Mr. Arnold and the male chorus. During the solo the chorus men dressed in college attire form the varsity letter of the several important colleges mentioned in the song, and give the college yells with a snap and dash that makes them seem real, instead of in the mimic world.

A coming two-reel Keystone Mutual Movie comedy, "Mabel at the Wheel," is one of the funniest offerings for a long time. The action centers about the recent Grand Prix road races at Santa Monica, Calif. Several companies tried to get motion pictures at the races, but this Keystone will beat the rest by at least a week in getting before the public. Mabel Normand, Charles Chaplin, Harry McCoy and Mack Sennett are in the cast.

Francis Marion, the hero of every school boy, is the central figure in a three-part historical drama recently completed by Kalem. It is safe to predict that every child who witnesses this production, "Francis Marion, the Swamp Fox," will master more history in the time the picture is on the screen than would be possible in a week's study from a text book.

"Within the Law," which is to be presented at the Robinson Grand May 2, has proved more than an American success as it is equally popular in England and Australia. One has to see the play to know the effect it has on the masses who understand the injustices of some of the department stores and the grafting interference of some of the police. Every scene of the play has been verified in court—often the similarity has been remarkable. Only recently the heroine who works "Within the Law" was matched by the "Wolf of Wall Street." Removed from the coincidence to England and Australia, the play stands upon its merits as one of the strongest melodramas ever written.

Mabel and Edith Tallaferro are adding greatly to their fame as the Clendenen sisters in "Young Wisdom," the comedy by Rachel Crothers.

TUBERCULOSIS

In addition to plenty of fresh air and proper diet, those suffering from or who are predisposed to Tuberculosis are recommended to use Eckman's Alternative to get night sweats, banish fever and hasten recovery. This medicine, by reason of its successful use during the past, warrants the fullest investigation possible by every sufferer. Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections, and in upbuilding the system. It contains no narcotics, no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Sold by leading druggists. Write to the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries.

Excellent for Stomach Trouble.

"Chamberlain's Tablets are just fine for stomach trouble," writes Mrs. G. C. Dunn, Arnold, Pa. "I was bothered with this complaint for some time and frequently had bilious attacks. Chamberlain's Tablets afforded me great relief from the first, and since taking one bottle of them I feel like a different person." For sale by all dealers—Advertisement.

ers, which has served them so well this season. Miss Crothers has written a play with ideas, but, best of all, with the spirit of youth and happiness. It was no easy task to evolve a play in which the Misses Tallaferro would find roles of equal importance and interest, but this has been accomplished and the novelty of sisters starring on the dramatic stage, at least a novelty in these days, has interested large audiences in the leading cities.

The big audience at the Odeon theater last night was more than pleased with Whitney's Operatic Dolls and every number was well received. This is a "big time" act and should be seen by all, especially the children. Today's pictures are good, as usual, including a powerful Kalem drama entitled "The Reward of Justice," featuring Carlyle Blackwell, and a splendid Edison drama entitled "The Message of the Rose."

Eva Carey, the young prima donna, who has been delighting theater goers in the role of Virginia Stuart, in the musical spectacle "The Prince of Tonight," which comes to the Robinson Grand Saturday afternoon and night, April 25, is surprised that she ever went on the stage.

Upon completing her schooling, Miss Carey went east to take up vocal training. During the summer she visited many friends in New York City and by chance met several professionalists. At that time one of the "Merry Widow" companies was in rehearsal. Miss Carey was invited to attend, where she met the musical director who upon hearing her sing offered her a position as a show-girl, which she accepted, and in the last three or four years she has been making a decided success. One season in the chorus gave her the necessary experience, the following season she looked for something better and was engaged for the prima donna in "A Stubborn Cinderella" followed by leading roles in "Miss Nobody from Starland," "The Goddess of Liberty," and last season was assigned the part she now fills.

Miss Carey possesses an excellent voice and is an accomplished actress. She has no hard luck stories to tell of her professional gain; the opportunity to go on the stage came to her unsolicited, she accepted and once given a position she went about the work with ambition and determination to win. The result was that after one year of experience, she was playing leading roles.

Percy Haswell will have her usual summer stock company in Toronto this season.

John Hyams and Lelia McIntyre may star again next season in "The Girl of My Dreams."

Next week W. A. Brady will produce in Stamford, Conn., the English version of a French comedy called "The Elder Son."

Elsie Janis is to appear in London in a new musical review called "The Passing Show." In this piece she will give her imitations.

Oliver C. Ziegfeld, who is directing the Ziegfeld Players in Katherine Kavanagh's new play, "Caroline if the Circus," is making a special feature of the circus scene, and has engaged the Ring Larks to do their wonderful trapeze act.

H. H. Franzen is to produce George Bronson-Howard's play, "The Red Light of Mars," and Arnold Daly was selected for the leading part, but it is said, has withdrawn. John Flood and Beverly Sigsbee had also been engaged for the cast.

William Elliott has secured the rights to George V. Hobart's morality play, "Experience," which is to be a feature of the Lambs' Gambol. Mr. Elliott will appear in the piece himself during the tour of the Gambol and will later appear in its regular tour.

Archle Boyd, widely known as a figure in rural comedies, died last week at his home in St. Louis after an illness of several months. He was best known for his work in "The Village Postmaster" and "Way Down East." Although suffering from a nervous breakdown, he kept up his stage work until a month ago.
